Hay making is being vigorously prosecuted, but the crop is scarce.
Mr. Clark, who was visiting his sons, near here, returned east last week. He was accompanied by Mr. Guthrie and Miss Lucy Dulmage, who is attending the Brandon High School.
Dr. J. H. C. Willoughby returned from England on the 23rd ult. He had been completing his medical education there.
Rancher Wilson of Brightwater Lake, and Indian Instructor McCallum, returned from Regina to day.
A case of horse stealing occurred lately, which frightened the natives badly. Upon investigation it turned out to be bogus, some one having played a practical joke. Such a joke as this should be taken for granted now a days.
The following notice appeared here lately: "Lost, on or about the 1st of June last, between Regina and Long Lake, about 25 miles of the Regina and Long Lake Railroad. Finder will be suitably rewarded by applying to the President.
Inspector Brooks, of the N. W. M. P., passed here last week on his way to Battleford. He came from Regina by the new trail.
Garven & Holmes are building an addition to Shannon & McLeod's boot and shoe store. It will be used as a workshop.
Brown & Peard have the walls of the Public School well up on the second story. We trust the contractor will push the work rapidly to completion, as the "young idea" are running to weeds and our estimable teacher will have a sorry time reclaiming them when school opens.
The work on the east end school house is progressing remarkably well. The brick work is finished and the contractor is at present at work finishing the belfry and the roof. This building greatly adds to the appearance of the east end of our town and will, when finished, be a credit to the district.

One of the events that are always pleasing, especially to those most deeply interested, took place Wednesday evening last in St. Alban's church. We refer to the marriage of Mr. Stephen Brewster to Miss May Markley. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. Wright in the presence of a very large number of friends. The groom was supported through the trying ordeal by Mr. T. S. Campbell, and the bride by her sisters Miss Markley and Miss H. Markley, and Miss Miriam Wilson. We extend to them our best wishes and trust they may enjoy many years of happiness.

Mr. James Treston, who for a number of years has been a resident of this place and lived on the north side of the river, just opposite the town, was found dead on Sunday morning last by Mr. Ouellet, of Stobart & Son. On Saturday the day previous, Mr. Treston was in town enjoying his usual health. On Monday Dr. H. C. Bain held an inquest and a careful examination having been made the jury returned a verdict that the deceased had came to his death by natural causes. Mr. Treston has a family living in Manitoba, who have been informed of his sudden death. Mr. Treston will be much missed from our midst.

We are glad to learn that the east end school is in very good standing, the rate of taxes this year only exceeding last by one mill on the dollar. The trustees have purchased extra lots from the H. B. Company adjoining the old school site, and they now have a very nice piece of property. The teacher, Mr. Bartlett, is giving great satisfaction to both trustees and parents and is anxiously waiting to remove his pupils into the new building. Mr. Chas. Woodman was re-engaged as Sec. Treas. until the 17th November next.

The many friends of Mr. H. Belanger, Chief Factor H. B. Co., Cumberland, will regret to hear of the death of his eldest son by drowning about eight days ago. He was engaged as watchman on the steamer Northcote and while raising a pail of water over the side of the boat fell over. His body was recovered the next morning. It is only a few weeks since Mr. Belanger lost his wife who was staying in Winnipeg, where she had gone to receive medical treatment. Mr. Belanger's son had only a short time previous to his death bid his father good bye, who was starting for Winnipeg the next morning. He has our deepest sympathy in this his double bereavement.

FRIDAY, AUG. 19, 1887.

European politics are just now an interesting study. For months past Europe has seemed to be on the eve of great events, yet the great events do not come, although every day shows that so deep rooted is the quarrel among certain of the Great Powers that probably nothing but an explosion and the defeat of one or the other can settle matters. The Slavophil party in Russia see in the rise of the German Empire an obstacle to the spread of Russian influence and power; the French see in it the loss of two provinces, and, worse stil, of the prestige which is as the breath of life to France. Germany, her very existence menaced on either hand by these two Powers, now certainly in alliance for a common object, gathers allies about her for defence, as best she may, and can only await events, hoping that in the chapter of accidents the opposed alliance may be broken up, or one of the allies become so engaged that the other may be settled with alone. Any complication that would absorb the attention now bestowed by France or Russia on Germany would be most welcome to Prince Bismarck; with Russia especially engaged elsewhere he could not afford to miss the opportunity to struggle out of his present difficulty. Germany is menaced with very serious danger—danger which is constantly increasing, and which will tax all Prince Bismarck's astuteness to avert. He has seemed disposed to yield very much to Russia in the Bulgarian dispute, to conciliate her; but it is hard to see how when it comes to the point he can consent to the strengthening and aggrandisement of so determined an enemy to Germany, by giving her Constantinople, which, moreover, will not remove the animosity of the Slav towards the Teuton. His patience has limits, as shown by the recent financial war against Russian credit in Berlin. Through the newspapers there he has poured red hot shot into the financial resources of Russia, and has by this simple device fairly crippled his threatening enemy, a feat which, performed at a critical juncture, we take to be one of the most skilful even of Prince Bismarck's many achievements.

It is most gratifying to observe that the better informed of Americans are coming to their senses on the fisheries question. The commander of the American man-of war in attendance on the United States fishing fleet off the coast of Prince Edward Island seems to be of the right sort. At all events he gave the poaching fishermen of his country in that vicinity some sound and valuable advice the other day. It is to be hoped that it will not be without effect on them.

Imposing Ceremony.

The Consecration of the Second Bishop of Saskatchewan.

One of the most imposing of Episcopal services was celebrated in the Holy Trinity church Sunday morning, when the Ven. Archdeacon Pinkham was consecrated Bishop of Saskatchewan. The edifice was crowded from chancel to portal, every available seat being occupied. Long before 11 o'clock streams of devout spectators commenced arriving from several directions, so that by the time the bell ceased it was morally impossible to secure a position anywhere within hearing distance of the pulpit The choir was an exceptionally large one, having been increased for the occasion, and opened the service with a beautiful processional hymn. During the singing of this hymn the church dignitaries and clergy marched in procession up the centre aisle.

THE SERVICE.

The ordering of the service on the occasion of a consecration is by canon in the hands of the metropolitan. His directions were carried out by the Rev. Canon Machray, the secretary of the House of Bishops, who arranged the procession, and by the Rev. Canon Coombs, who took charge of the musical portion of the ceremonies. In the arrangement of the procession the order followed was that which obtains at consecrations in England. In the procession were the Revs. H. T. Leslie, city; J. C. Fortin, Emerson; E. P. Flewelling, Brandon; W. Jukes, Minnedosa; E. H. Hooper, Springfield; A. W. Goulding, Stonewall; W. A. Burman, Griswold; I. Irvine, Lac Seul; S. Spinlove, Fort Simpson; A. W. Pentreath, Christ church;—Tims, Alberta E. K. Matheson, Lethbridge; A. E. Cowley St. James;—Dicky, Moosehead;—Merrick city; Canon Flett, Prince Albert; Canon O'Meara, L. L. D., Port Hope, and one or two American clergymen; the rector of Holy Trinity, Rev. O. Fortin, Presenter, Canon Coombes; Archdeacon George McKay, Alberta; Dean of Rupert's Land; Dean of Devonport; Canon Machry, registrar of the diocese; Canon Matheson, preacher; Bishop-elect of Saskatchewan with Rev. A. Pinkham, of Dakota, as his chaplain; Bishop of Athabasca, with Rev. Archdeacon Reeve as chaplain; Bishop of Qu'Appelle, with Rev. H. H. Tudor, of All Saints, as chaplain; Bishop of Northern Dakota, with Rev. Mr. Currie, of Grand Forks, as chaplain; Bishop of Huron, with Rev. Canon Du Moulin, of Toronto, as chaplain; Bishop of Moosonee, with Rev. Canon O'Meara, of Winnipeg, as chaplain; Bishop of Rochester, Eng., with Rev. F.E. Wigram honorary Secretary of the Church Missionary Society, as chaplain; Metropolitan of Rupert's Land, with Ven. Archdeacon Cowley as chaplain. The procession marched from the vestry to the front entrance of the church and then up the centre aisle. On reaching the chancel steps the procession opened and the bishops went first, headed by the Metropolitan.

The communion service was then proceeded with, the Most Reverend the Metropolitan officiating. Bishop Whipple read the epistle and Bishop Thorold the gospel.

The Rev. Canon Matheson then preached the sermon, taking his text from:

I. Samuel, chap. x, 26, "And there went with him a band of men whose heart God had touched," which he delivered with the remarkable eloquence that distinguishes him, and seemed to touch the hearts of all hearers. After mentioning the principal duties and sacrifices of bishops, especially those to be incurred by Bishop Pinkham in his difficult mission into a new diocese and amongst the Indians, and in referring to the late Bishop McLean, he said:

"The name of Bishop McLean is a household word in Saskatchewan. It is enshrined in the hearts of her people. It is inscribed upon the monuments of church work in every hamlet and group of homesteads in that fertile valley. "He being dead yet speaketh." "His works do follow him." What can I say of him? I seem like a child trying to speak of a father. I have sat at his feet and learned from him. He taught me, he rebuked me, he inspired me. He was a man of singular ability, of rare gifts and of splendid scholarship. God had endowed him with such power of eloquence that he had few peers either on the platform or in the pulpit. Physically strong and mentally strong, physically active and mentally active, his life was one of unresting activity. He was never idle. Even under constrained silence and quietude his very fingers twitched and the muscles of his face moved restlessly, as if in answer to the vibrations of his active mind within. With this activity of mind and body he combined that pertinacity of purpose, that indomitable persistence, which in his native land of hill and heather is termed "dourness." To be with the man was to catch some of his spirit. I well remember in school and college how ardently we worked for him. We often wondered why we did it. We seemed a puzzle to ourselves. But the fact was, the atmosphere of his presence was energizing. It seemed charged with an animating ideality. You felt in his presence that there was something to do, and that you must do it—that there was something to be, and that you must be it. Brethren, all these noble features of character, all these talents and gifts Bishop McLean laid upon the Lord's altar in Saskatchewan. He did this too, when, in the world's view, there was nothing to attract a man to that western country. He had everything to do, everything to form. There was no organization—no endowment. The diocese consisted only of vastness of extent and a very sparse white population. But to a man of faith and large hope there was a future of promise in it. With faith in God, and a zeal for the Lord of Hosts, he took up the work. It was virgin soil to cultivate for the Master. But under the mysterious providence of God, he was not permitted to see the harvest. "One sows, another reaps." The Lord of the vineyard called him before the evening came. If his life was grand, his death was heroic. I shall not attempt to describe that death here. It has been depicted by abler tongues and abler pens than mine. Suffice it to say that while I have listened to the story of the last few weeks of his life, as told to me by the son who accompanied him on that last and fatal journey, there is a tragic pathos in it which makes one feel that if Africa and the East can point to a Hannington and a Patteson as martyrs to a fierce persecution, Northwest America can point to a McLean, a martyr to self-imposed work for God. It has been well said of him that "he died in his work and of his work." In the midst of death he was in life, for he worked to the last.

He then referred to the Bishop elect, acknowledging his fitness for the post, which he had proved by his work for the church in Manitoba, and recommended to the prayers of, the congregation, the successor of Bishop McLean, who was ready to take up the cross from a Christian fallen hero.

After the singing of a beautiful hymn the nomination by the Archbishop of Canterbury of the Ven. Archdeacon Pinkham as the Bishop of Saskatchewan, dated February 10th, 1887, was read by Canon Machray, registrar of the diocese.

The bishop-elect was then presented by the Bishops of Athabasca and Qu'Appelle, after which the Metropolitan invited the congregation to prayer, while the Litany was intoned by Canon Coombes. The usual questions were asked by the Metropolitan of the bishop-elect, and answered in a firm, clear voice. During the robing of the bishop-elect the anthem "God is a spirit" was sung, and while the Bishop knelt before the altar, the hymn "Come Holy Ghost, Our Souls Inspire" was rendered.

The consecration was then proceeded with, Bishop Pinkham receiving, by the imposition of hands by all the bishops present, the sacred office of bishop in the church of God.

At the close of the service several friends and prominent church members stepped forward and cordially greeted his lordship the Bishop of Saskatchewan.

At the close of the consecration service the sacrament was administered, the Bishop of Huron reading the introduction, while the Metropolitan took the rest of the service, distributing the elements first to the Bishop of Minnesota, who along with the Metropolitan administered the holy communion to those present.

TERRITORIAL NEWS

REGINA.

From the Leader, August 2.

Twelve hours steady rain. How is that for an arid country?

Mr. John Downey, north of Regina, finished his barley harvest last week. He has sixty bushels to the acre and the quality of grain is reported excellent.

Mr. P. J. Williams, Indian Agent at File Hills, will take the position of Mr. McKay, of the Battleford agency, who goes to take the principalship of the English Church College at Prince Albert.

Cucumbers eleven and a half inches in circumference and twenty-two inches in length are raised in the Qu'Appelle Valley, north of Regina. Who can beat this?

Bishop Grandin, who has been on a visit to France, passed through here last week on his way to his home in St. Albert, near Edmonton. His Lordship received two large bells, weighing respectively 1,100 lbs. and 900 lbs., as a gift from friends in France. The bells are being taken up to St. Albert.

The Leader garden is flourishing marvellously. Some of the finest "Murphies" we ever saw are there. The fence is occasionally broken down by stray cattle and mules, who play the dickens with garden stuff; but we are keeping track of the damage done and the city fathers will have to float some more debentures when we present our little bill.

QU'APPELLE.

From the Progress, August 4.

The showers of rain are interfering somewhat with the haying, but are a benefit to the growing crops.

The cricketers are practising for their match with the Winnipeg team on the 8th inst. It is expected to be an interesting game.

A few of the farmers have lost the most of their crops owing to the hot winds during the first part of July and the devastations of the gophers, but generally there will be a good crop of wheat, oats and barley. The latter is particularly good. Potatoes will be an excellent crop. The most of the carrots and turnips succumbed to the gophers.

The brass band have decided to play without charge for any local institution or entertainment when required, and appeal to the generosity of the town for assistance in bearing their heavy expenses. The band is now composed of twelve members and each is required to pay $2 per month towards the salary of the teacher, and that does not meet the whole expense. It is therefore intended to ask the assistance of the townspeople and it is nothing more than right if the members of the band give their time that they should be aided financially. Our citizens need not wait until called upon. They can leave their subcriptions at Mr. Caswell's bank.

BATTLEFORD.

From the Herald, July 30.

The sawmill of Prince Brothers is again at work, and the sound of the whistle marks the hours of labour as of old.

Sergt. White, late of Regina, came in by stage on Monday and is now Sergeant Major of "C" Division in the room of Sergt.-Major Breadon, transferred.

The non-commissioned officers and men of C Division have arranged to give a ball on Monday night in honor of Supt. Cotton's return. It will take place in one of the new barrack buildings. It is also hinted that another compliment is in store for him.

Supt. Cotton late of "C" Division, has been appointed Inspecting Superintendent, without a Division, with headquarters at Battleford. He will have the supervision of the Northern district, and will be succeeded in command of this post by Supt. Dean. A number of other changes are shortly to be made, involving a general movement of the officers in the north.

EDMONTON.

From the Bulletin, July 23.

Haying is commencing. The grass is comparatively short and the supply scarce.

Heavy frosts are reported on one or two nights of the week before last both south and east of Edmonton, doing considerable damage. All safe here.

A heavy fall of hail occurred on Sunday afternoon last along the horse hill creek two or three miles this side of Fort Saskatchewan. At the creek the hail lay to a depth of about two inches. As there was little or no wind the damage done was slight. At Fort Saskatchewan a little hail fell, followed by a very heavy rain.

The beef required on the Police contract now advertised, to run until June 30th, '88, will amount to over 42,000 pounds.

CALGARY.

From the Herald, Agust 5.

The harvest is about commencing at Banff.

Train loads of tea, eastbound, pass through every day now.

Judge Rouleau's handsome stone residence is progressing rapidly towards completion.

The Bishop of Rochester, England, will visit the Territories and the Pacific coasts shortly.

LETHBRIDGE.

From the News August 3.

About three hundred tons of coal are now being got out of the mines here daily.

The Indian payments, it is expected, will be commenced in this section about the beginning of September.

The crops are looking well since the rain of last week, and most of the ranchers are looking forward to a beautiful harvest.

A rumor was afloat here this week that an Indian was shot at the Sun Dance at the Blood reserve on Sunday. We have been unable to learn the truth of the report.

LACROSSE.

Prince Albert vs. N. W. M. Police.

A very interesting and exciting match took place between the above clubs on Wednesday afternoon, the 17th inst., which resulted in a victory for the former by three games to two.

Considerable interest was evinced throughout the game by the members and spectators present, and enthusiastic were the exultations that eminated upon them as some fine specimen of individual play took place.

The weather was everything that could be desired. The individual play of the Prince Albert club excelled that of the Police, but their team play was nearly equal. There was some illjudged throwing, but the running and dodging was all that could be wished for. And with the exception of one or two introductions of unruly elements the spectators, pithout doubt, had the pleasure of witnessing one of the most exciting and finest exhibitions of the game yet made. Mr. Geo. C. McLeod was again chosen as referee. Everything in readiness, the men were called out. The names and respective positions on the field stood as follows:

J. Wigmors	goal	Const.	Leslie
W. R. Fish	point	"	St. Denis
A. A. B. Sproat	cover point	"	Morrow
J. D. McIntosh	def. field	"	Perry
N. McKenzie	do	Sergt.	Talbert
J. Offord	centre	Corpl.	Bailey
Geo. Russell	home field	Const.	Smith
J. Knowles	do	"	Aske
W. V. Maclise	home	"	Garrison
Gustave Gervais	do	"	Doyle

The first game was rather one sided. The town team rushed the ball on the flags of the Police and after repeated onslaughts, during which some excellent defense and home play was manifested, Knowles captured the sphere and passed it through the Police goal, scoring the first game for the Prince Albert team. Time—3 minutes.

The second was of longer duration, both teams laying themselves out for a good afternoon's work, and though not so interesting as some of the subsequent games, was nevertheless well contested. The Prince Albert defence played a magnificent game, and deserve great credit for their plucky performances, especially Fish, Sproat and Wigmore; but despite this Bailey, by a well directed shot, secured the game for the Police. Time—13 minutes.

The third game was more interesting, the Prince Albet boys displayed by far the most skill, Russell and Offord working like Trojans Probably the fact that two matches had already been played, one resulting in a hollow victory for the town club and the other in a draw game, may be given to extenuate the offense; but no number of defeats and no number of matches could possible call forth the amount of abusive language used during this game by some of the police on-lookers, language which in no way helped to improve the complained of moral tone of the community, and which justly called forth a general expression of indignation from the citizens. During this game Sproat got his thumb broken, caused by two blows with a lacrosse stick. Science however prevailed, and Knowles again secured the rubber and the second game for the Prince Albert club. Time—28 minutes.

The fourth game was the one in which perhaps the most skill was shown, Bailey, Talbert and Garrison upholding the reputation of the Police, while Knowles, Russel and Maclise did yeoman service for the Prince Albert club; both teams worked very hard. It was put to an end by Knowles, scoring game for the Prince Alberts. Time—23 minutes.

In the fifth game the Police put forth gigantic efforts to avoid what seemed an inevitable defeat. The home play of Perry, Leslie and Bailey proved to be too much for the Prince Albert defense, who were considerably weakened by loss of Sproat. By a continued effort they made a charge on the goal and Perry secured game; Time—19 minutes.

There was still 12 minutes to spare of the allotted time. Play was resumed, but time was called before either side claimed a game; tee referee therefore gave the game to the Prince Albert club. Mr. James Sinclair acted as umpire for the latter, and Sergt. Parker for the Police. A. Stewart and Sergt.-Major Smart captained the respective teams.

The Police Lacross Club were entertained at Pollock's lathe evening, Mayor Macarthur presiding. Numerous toasts were proposed and responded to, and several songs were given. After a most enjoyable evening spent together, the gathering dispersed about ten o'clock, on the singing of God Save the Queen.

GENERAL NEWS.

London, August 1. The Canadian cricket team finished the match at Brighton on Saturday against the Gentlemen of Sussex. The score of Canada for the first innings was 73, and the second 155; Sussex, first innings 206; second, 23 for one wicket.

Paris, August 2.—The seconds of Mr. Ferry and Gen. Boulanger met last night and decided that a duel between the two ex-ministers was necessary. The meeting will be arranged as soon as possible.

London, Eng., August, 2.—News has been received from Emin Pasha, February 10th. He was then alive and well and was about to start on an extensive exploring expedition. He had apparantly heard nothing of Stanley's plan for his relief.

Rome, August 5.—The Pope has decided that the Vatican shall take an active part in political affairs and the elections in Italy, and has appointed a commission to canvass the clergy of the country with a view of building up a strong party in the Chamber of Deputies and forcing the Government to concessions.

Halifax, August 3.—There are now seven Canadian cruisers on the mackerel grounds looking after American fishermen. The mackerel are very plentiful in shore and the Americans very daring. But with the presence of so many cruisers on the look-out the opportunities for them to steal Canadian fish are not many. Capt. Laraway writes that for weeks at a time he has not been able to take off his clothes, so closely has he had to follow every move of the Americans.

Ottawa, August 2.—There was an important Cabinet meeting at Dalhousie, N. B., yesterday, in regard to the recent seizures of American fishing crafts. The proceedings are not learned. It is said here that the British Government has urged Canada to make certain concessions as the only means of enabling Great Britain to maintain her friendly relations with the United States.

SHE TUMBLED

A very respectable-looking citizen called at a house on Fourth avenue yesterday and asked to see the lady on very important business. When admitted he started off with the inquiry:

"You have been up North for a few days?"

"Yes, sir—just got home yesterday."

"Your husband was with you?"

"Yes, sir."

"One of the chief amusements was fishing?"

"Of course."

"He had good luck, didn't he?"

"He did."

"Caught one pickerel weighing—let us see—weighing—how much?"

"Sir!" she exclaimed, as she sprang up, "leave this house at once! I see through your perfidious mask of villiany which you have assumed, and if my husband has reported that he caught an eighteen pounder, you can't get me to reduce the weight by a single ounce! Go, sir, before I shed blood!"

And he goed.—Detroit Free Press.

The Behring's Sea Dispute.

Up to the present moment no satisfactory reply appears to have been received at Ottawa from the American authorities to the protests with reference to the seizure of sailing Canadian vessels in Behring's Sea. It will be remembered that the seizures took place a year ago. Several vessels were within the sea, but hundreds of miles from land, prosecuting their business, when a United States cruiser bore down upon them. The vessels were seized, and the captains with their crews were committed to gaol. All last winter the ships were allowed to remain at an island, exposed to storms and the larcenies of the Indians. The men who were arrested and tried by summary process have certainly been released, but one of them cannot be found. It is believed that he escaped from the Alaskan lock-up to meet death in the inhospitable woods. Since the seizure the Canadian Government has been endevouring through the medium of despatches to secure satisfaction from Washington. It has protested against the claim of the United States to the exclusive right to the sea, and has demanded reparation for the injuries inflicted upon the whalers. The only reply it has received as yet is that Mr. Bayard is waiting for the report from the magistrate of Alaska who conducted the trial of the Canadians and pronounced sentence upon them.
